I'm sorry, what? A new edutainment game for kids of all ages where the central character helps them learn scripture? But why does this app need to be called "CHICHEWABIBLEDOWNLOAD"? There's nothing in the Bible about a bird who comes down from heaven and teaches children how to study God's word. I feel like this might not be a good idea. Well, I tried out CHICHEWABIBLEDOWNLOAD and here are my thoughts: There is a lot in the Bible that I would have missed without playing this game. Now I won't have to go out and buy a Bible just so I can look up the verses myself. This is a good app. It's great for anyone who wants to keep their faith in God without getting too steeped in the Bible. If you want to learn more about the Bible, this is your game. If you like edutainment games, this is your game. And if you like both of those things, this is still your game. "Making scripture fun" - that's what CHICHEWABIBLEDOWNLOAD does best. The art and parallaxing effect is impressive. I like how the bible text fades out as you reach the end. I feel like this app is a little too edutainmenty for my taste. It's not really a "game" in the traditional sense, but it's too basic and boring to be an educational tool. If you're looking for a Bible lesson app, I'd recommend either Reading Jesus' Words or Jesus App, which both have much better lessons and even dynamic responses to your questions. However, if you like edutainment games in general, there's definitely some promise in the art and customization of this game. This game is great for anyone who loves scripture and wants to study the Bible in a different way. It's also great for kids who might want to learn more about God himself through scripture. It's just really great overall. I think that this game is very well made and it will pique the interest of many people. It does a good job of explaining things in plain English so anyone can understand it, not just Christians who are familiar with the Bible. There are some things that could be improved with this game, but overall I think it accomplishes what it sets out to do very well. Welcome to the internet's only review show where we take an in depth look at edutainment games that you can't find elsewhere. Today we're looking at a new Bible app that shows you how to read Scripture. It's called "CHICHEWABIBLEDOWNLOAD", and it's all about the scripture - no fluff, no Bibles, and no American Jesus! You will learn things like:

Seven great youths who shunned evil and clung to the good (Daniel 1:8) Jesus gave the apostles a teaching that was not from man (John 14:6)

The world is full of dangers for Christians.
